

Date: Tue, 29 Aug 2006 11:52:25 -0700 [08/29/2006 02:52:25 PM EDT]

From: Scott <ineedtoletyouknow@yahoo.com>

To: webmaster@kipmckean.com

Subject: Re: Documents

Jen,

Thank you for your email and your acknowledgement as the owner of the website(s).

After following the site(s) and reviewing the material that you have posted on your site it is apparent that you have violated multiple State and Federal Copyright and Trademark Laws. Also understand that unless you can prove each and every posting that is on your site(s) you are in violation of Federal and State Laws the protect individuals from defamatory type of material. Please be aware that you are using Mr. McKean's name and personal pictures without permission in which we believe were also attained from the Portland International Church of Christ website and/or other sites that are under the same Copyright and Trademark Laws.

The following can be found on the Portland International Church of Christ website:

Terms of Use

All content on this Website, including the audio, video, and written articles, and the collection, arrangement, and assembly of materials on this Website, is the exclusive property of the Portland International Church of Christ is protected by U.S. copyright laws.

None of the aforementioned content may be reproduced without the express written permission of the Portland International Church of Christ. with the following conditions:

Audio/Video may be downloaded and put on CDs/DVDs or other recording materials to redistribute. Audio/Video MAY NOT be streamed or served or stored on ANY website(s) other than those owned and operated by the Portland International Church of Christ.

Written materials may also be printed or redistributed - but quoting or using this content on any site other than a site owned and operated by the Portland International Church of Christ requires written consent of the Portland International Church of Christ.

Articles, Audio, Video, and parts of this site can be linked to normally, but must not be streamed from any other source than a site owned or operated by the Portland International Church of Christ.

It is my understanding that you do not have permission to store or quote any content in whole or in part from the Portland International Church of Christ, its affiliates or any other entity in which this material can be obtained. Should you be in possession of such document(s) please forward it to my attention for review.

At this time you are requested to Cease-and-desist in letting this type of material from being posted on your website(s) and remove all posting that contain such material, including but not limited to; articles, audio/video, pictures and quotes in whole or in part as protected under Copyright and Trademark Laws within (24) hours as of this date August 29, 2006 at 11:45 (PST). Also understand that as the owner you will become liable in whole or in part for any damages that have occurred or will occur due to the above mentioned violations or losses to be specified.

At this time I would also like to inform you that it would be in your best interest to contact legal counsel for your better understanding of Federal and State Laws of the above mentioned violations.

As this matter moves forward you will be contacted via this email since we do not have the appropriate contact information. Should you hire legal representation, please forward me the contact information so we can discuss this matter directly with your attorney.